A MESSAGE TO THE 2021 ALLAN HANCOCK COLLEGE GRADUATES

Congratulations!

Today, Allan Hancock College proudly celebrates its 100th graduating class, marking a century of Hancock changing the odds for our students and our community.

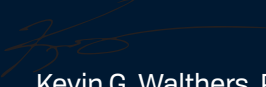

As centennial graduates, you represent the end of a 100-year journey. It began with a class of only six students in a small room at the Santa Maria High School campus. It continues today as the college provides quality higher education to thousands of students each year.

The class of 2021 perfectly exemplifies our legacy. As students, you rose to the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic. Your incredible resilience and determination shined as you quickly adapted to new ways of learning while balancing the demands of work, family, and other responsibilities.

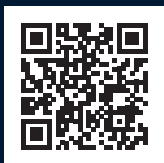

Despite the difficulties, you remained focused and determined. Your success earned you degrees and certificates that will pave the path to success for the rest of your lives. All of us at Hancock are honored to have supported you on this important journey and are excited to see the amazing things you will accomplish.

On behalf of the Allan Hancock College Board of Trustees, faculty, and staff, I congratulate you – class of 2021 – on your graduation from Allan Hancock College.

Go Bulldogs!

Kevin G. Walthers, Ph.D.

STUDENT PROFILES

RAFAEL VALDOVINOS JR.

Rafael Valdovinos Jr. celebrates many achievements as a 100th graduating class member. He is a first-generation college graduate and the first Hancock semi-finalist selected to receive the Jack Kent Cooke Foundation Scholarship.

Valdovinos' path to success was challenging. He vacillated between academic achievement, gang culture, addiction, and incarceration.

"Over the last decade, I have been restored through recovery, education, and relationships. Hancock was there to offer me the support I needed to succeed."

With the help of the Basic Needs office, Men's Support Group, Beyond Incarceration Greater Education (BIGE) Club, and Beyond Barriers/Rising Scholars, Valdovinos became a full-time Hancock student. He is graduating with an associate degree in psychology and will pursue a bachelor's degree in social work, while concurrently finishing a degree in addiction studies and a certificate in co-occurring disorders.

ILU TEFERA

As captain of the Hancock women's swimming team, Ilu Tefera's drive to compete and succeed is apparent both in and out of the water.

Tefera began swimming competitively at age 11, and her motivation to be the best continued after she graduated Pioneer Valley High School. She sought multiple degrees as a Hancock student-athlete.

"I'm a very self-driven person. I like to set goals, and I know the work I have to do to get there. Being an athlete and being part of a team kept me grounded and motivated."

She is graduating with four degrees, including an associate degree for transfer in political science, an associate degree for transfer in English, an associate degree in social and behavioral science, and an associate degree for transfer in social and behavioral science. She plans to transfer to a four-year university.

She is considering several career areas including law and journalism.

ANA ROSAS PACHECO

Ana Rosas Pacheco is graduating from Hancock with a lengthy list of accomplishments in student service.

After witnessing the impacts of student leaders, Pacheco joined campus clubs and student government. In 2020, she was elected to represent the college's students as a nonvoting member of the AHC Board of Trustees.

"I wanted to make a difference and become a voice for other students. Being a part of the college in a way that goes beyond just academics is very important to me."

Pacheco is a first-generation college student. She credits her parents for the opportunity to pursue higher education.

"My parents immigrated to the U.S. in the early 2000s. They came to this country so I could have better opportunities and a better future. I'm so grateful for the sacrifices they've made to help me achieve my dreams."

Pacheco is graduating with an associate degree for transfer in administration of justice and behavioral science. She plans to transfer to CSU Fresno to pursue a four-year degree in criminal justice.

VANESSA MAGAÑA MARIN

First-generation college student and DREAMer Vanessa Magaña Marin explored a passion for graphic design while at Hancock.

"I've always loved making logos and videos and being creative. I came to Hancock because it gave me the opportunity to learn and pursue my goals."

Magaña Marin began taking noncredit classes at Hancock through Community Education, transitioned to credit classes, and then began pursuing her degree. She participated in the college's AIM program and served as vice president of the college's Associated Student Body Government. Magaña Marin also served as president of Hancock's DREAM Club.

"I feel so grateful for the support of my parents and all the faculty and staff at Hancock who helped me. I wouldn't be able to have this opportunity if it wasn't for them. I hope I can be an example to other students who are in the same position as I am."

Magaña Marin is graduating with associate degrees in arts and humanities and math.

STUDENT PROFILES

MADALANE BODEN

The birth of her third child inspired Madalane Boden to continue pursuing a Hancock college degree.

"When my third child was just 3 days old, I decided I wanted to return to Hancock. I was working, but I wanted to have a career and not just a job, and I wanted more for myself and my children."

With a strong interest in computers and programming, she began pursuing a degree in computer science. Along the way - and as a mother of four - Boden accessed college support services via the state-funded Cooperative Agencies Resources for Education (CARE) program, which assists single-parents attending AHC.

"The people at CARE were always there for me. I was able to take my children on campus to the CARE office where I could study or do my homework. I always felt 100 percent supported."

In addition to being a student and working mother, Boden also worked as a student tutor, all while maintaining a 4.0 GPA. She is graduating with distinctive honors and earning an associate degree in computer science.

ARYANA GONZALES

Aryana Gonzales is graduating from Hancock with multiple degrees after a successful journey both on and off the basketball court.

As a women's basketball team captain, Gonzales also served as a Bulldog Athlete Retention Champions (BARC) Captains' Table student-athlete advocacy leader. The BARC allows athletes from multiple sports to meet, talk, and obtain support from their student-athlete peers.

The group became essential as COVID-19 placed seasons on hold.

"Being a student-athlete, it's been great to have a team and people who support you. It gave me an outlet to talk about what's happening with people who are going through the same journey that I was."

Gonzales rose to the occasion. She represented her team as part of the BARC, assisted her fellow students as a math tutor, and maintained a 4.0 GPA.

Gonzales is graduating with associate degrees in liberal arts, mathematics, and sciences, with an emphasis in physics. She plans to transfer to a four-year university to study mechanical engineering and continue playing basketball.

DAVID BAUTISTA GONZALEZ

Santa Maria native David Bautista Gonzalez is a first-generation college student and a Hancock Promise student. He actively served the college community as a student ambassador and executive director of the Associated Student Body Government. He served as a member of the college's Extended Opportunity Programs and Services (EOPS) program, College Achievement Now (CAN) program, and a member of the Alpha Gamma Sigma Honors Society.

Bautista Gonzalez and his fellow student ambassadors also played a critical role during the COVID-19 pandemic, helping provide food to more than 400,000 individuals through the college's twice-weekly emergency food distribution program.

"It's been amazing, and I'm so thankful that I had the chance to be engaged and involved with my college," said Bautista Gonzalez.

Bautista Gonzalez credits the Hancock Promise, which allows local high school students to attend their first year at AHC free of tuition and fees, with helping him on his journey to success at AHC.

Bautista Gonzalez is graduating with an associate degree for transfer in business administration. He plans to attend CSU Fresno and earn a business degree.

Thank You

With bold visions for the future and a student body of six, Santa Maria Junior College opened its doors in August 1920. The college operated in Santa Maria High School facilities and offered classes that paralleled the lower division curriculum of the University of California. Its mission was to offer quality higher education to area youth without requiring them to leave home.

After three decades of “double occupancy” at the high school, the college made a monumental leap toward its future by acquiring Hancock Field from Capt. G. Allan Hancock in 1954. Shortly thereafter, the name of the college was changed to Allan Hancock College.

Today, with more than 12,000 credit students a semester, Allan Hancock College is delivering on the promise of quality education at home. It offers more than 200 academic and career technical education programs that lead directly to degrees, certificates, great career opportunities, transfer to a university, and individual skills development.

The college challenges its students to excel in every way. In return, Hancock students consistently enjoy high acceptance rates to universities and strong employment opportunities in their chosen career fields.

As one of the premier community colleges in California, Allan Hancock College makes it possible for its students to start here, go anywhere.

MISSION: Allan Hancock College fosters an educational culture that values equity and diversity and engages students in an inclusive learning environment. We offer pathways that encourage our student population to achieve personal, career, and academic goals through coursework leading to skills building, certificates, associate degrees, and transfer.

SHARED VALUES: Student Success, Equity, Academic Freedom, Diversity, Innovation, Mutual Respect, Inclusivity, Collaboration, Lifelong Learning, Excellence, Shared Governance.
