OVERVIEW & FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is Work Experience Education?

Work Experience Education (WEE) at Allan Hancock College offers students the opportunity to explore career paths and earn college credit for skills learned on the job. The purpose of WEE is to help students transition from school to work by providing hands-on learning experiences where they can put classroom instruction to the test. WEE is offered and available to all Allan Hancock College students. There are two different types of WEE – 149 and 302.

What are the differences between the two work experience courses?

WEE 302 - General work experience not directly related to student's major. Maximum of six units per semester, 16 units total. May be repeated, however not more than 16 units combined (302 & 149) total.

WEE 149 - Occupational work experience directly related to student's major. Maximum of eight units per semester, 16 units total. May be repeated, however not more than 16 units combined (302 & 149) total. Internships may fall under this category if the internship is directly related to your major.

Can a student repeat Work Experience?

Yes, students can take the work experience course more than once. Eligibility requirements remain the same; however, the objectives must be different from one term to the next and represent new learning or expanded responsibilities. Students may take up to 16 units of WEE work experience. Students may take a combination of work experience classes, however they may not exceed 16 WEE units total.

Are the units transferable?

It depends. The California State University system does accept up to 8 units of Work Experience credit as elective units. Currently the UC system does not accept the transfer of Work Experience units. Private universities and colleges may be contacted individually for their own policy.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO WORK EXPERIENCE EDUCATION (WEE) INSTRUCTORS

Please be aware of and meet the identified responsibilities:

- Objectives: Assist the student in the development of their objectives (if needed), then review and approve these objectives. Their objectives are to be written and approved within two weeks from the date they register. Students complete the Learning Objectives Worksheet, acquire required signatures (student, employer/supervisor & WEE instructor) and submit it to the WEE Instructor.
- Jobsite Supervisor Contact & Site Visits: The WEE instructor must contact the student's work site supervisor at least TWICE during the term, and one of those must be an in person visit at the work site. The purpose of this is to approve and confirm the appropriateness of the work site, to make sure the employer is in agreement to provide the WEE experience for the student, and to receive and provide feedback regarding the student's performance.
 - The initial site visit should be made within the first two weeks of the term. The purpose of this meeting is to confirm the employer's knowledge of Work Experience Education and their role in the program. Additionally, the purpose of the first contact is to confirm the supervisor's name, the business physical/ mailing address, and contact phone numbers.
- Monitoring: The WEE instructor must personally meet with the student at least twice during the term.
- Documentation: Using the Instructor Summary Sheet, the WEE Instructor must maintain a written record of visits/contacts with the student and work site supervisor, including any action taken and feedback received. The instructor will also need to document the student's final grade on this form.
- Student Report: A written report is REQUIRED. Designate a topic from the handbook section "Student Report," or indicate a specific topic including format and length of paper that is appropriate to the work assignment and/or declared major of the student. The provided Rubric may be used to score the report.
- Grades and WEE Forms: Complete the WEE Instructor Summary for the student. ALL forms identified in this handbook and on the WEE Student Checklist must be completed, including all signatures, and turned into the WEE Specialist at the end of the term after the WEE Instructor has assigned a final grade. Per Title V Regulations, these WEE documents are to be stored indefinitely in the WEE office or digitally – they are not to be kept in the instructor's personal files. Instructors may keep as part of their personal files, a COPY of the Instructor Summary Sheet (with their contact notes).

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

What are learning objectives?

Learning objectives are goals to be accomplished within the Work Experience. Prior to beginning the Work Experience, students must attend an orientation where they learn how to plan and design the objectives that will be established by the student, employer/supervisor, and Work Experience Instructor.

Learning objectives for WEE include the following elements: the achievement or skill to be learned, how it will be measured, the manner in which it will be accomplished, and when it will be completed.

A large part of the grade depends on the achievement of the objectives. Student input is important and the following are guidelines to help in establishing objectives:

- Make sure each objective is achievable within the time frame of the Work Experience.
- Make sure each objective is specific enough to be evaluated.
- Objectives must involve new learning and/or expanded responsibilities, beyond those experienced in previous employment or Work Experiences.
- Make sure the objectives work by designing them to particular needs.

Quality of the objectives

Learning objectives are the most important component of a quality Work Experience. Clear, challenging objectives will help students grow and perform well on the job and in the classroom. Students in the Work Experience program do not simply earn units for working; these units reflect specific learning based on measurable objectives. The learning objectives are, in effect, a written agreement between the student, the employer, and Allan Hancock College.

New objectives each term

New and/or expanded learning objectives must be identified each term. Students can draft their objectives with the assistance of their employment supervisor and submit them to the Work Experience Instructor for final approval. The learning objectives must then be signed by all three parties and are to be turned in to the WEE Instructor.

Number of objectives

Three objectives are required of all students. Based on the purpose of the objectives, the degree of difficulty, and the student's ambitions, additional objectives may be set. Students are expected to accomplish as much in their placement as they would in a regular classroom.

Guidelines for writing your objectives

Challenging yet achievable learning objectives are the most important component of quality Work Experience. It is likely that up to fifty percent (50%) of your grade is dependent on establishing and reaching them. Objectives are measurable goals that you set for yourself (in conjunction with your supervisor) to be accomplished by you through your Work Experience. They require that you learn or make use of new habits, skills, or information above and beyond your current knowledge.

The objectives will be designed by you with assistance from your employer, and approved by your WEE Instructor. Each objective must be directly related to your career and/or major (WEE 149 is occupational, and WEE 302 is general).

Consider the following guidelines for your objectives:

- The objectives must involve new learning, new growth, new responsibilities, or improvement on the job.
- Make sure the objectives are specific enough to achieve within the Work Experience term and can be objectively evaluated.
- The objectives you set should benefit your employer too.
- Use an action verb to begin each objective that will describe what you intend to do (see the appendix for examples). Avoid vague or broad terms such as: believe, understand, appreciate, get, etc.

There are four distinct "rules" for developing meaningful WEE objectives, and they are as follows.

1. They must be very specific: What is it that you want to learn, achieve, or accomplish in your Work Experience? For example:
 - Research law cases and write briefs.
 - Operate a camera in a studio and on location productions.
2. Determine what your method of accomplishment will be. How will you go about learning the information you specified above? For example:
 - Practical hands-on application
 - Instruction/training from my supervisor and/or co-workers
 - Observation
 - Discussing techniques with other employees
 - Reading/studying manuals and tutorials
 - Videos
 - Workshops
 - Using computer programs
 - Reviewing files
 - Etc.

3. The results must be measurable. How will you and your supervisor be able to determine to what degree each objective has been completed? For example:
 - Tests
 - Work Experience Advisor critique/evaluation
 - Videotape critique
 - Submit monthly reports and case files
 - Etc.
4. Specify a completion date. What is the deadline for each objective? Write a specific date that is prior to the end of the semester.

Types of learning objectives

If you are new to Work Experience Education and just entering your placement, you should have an abundance of opportunities to learn information above and beyond the knowledge you already have. Think about what it is you want to learn while working. You might want to ask your supervisor or other employees what suggestions they have; things they have found important to know, or wished they had known early on in their career. This type of objective is most frequently used in Work Experience Education. Remember, you want to increase your breadth of knowledge.

Turning a current part time job into an intern position affords you the opportunity to use several types of learning objectives:

- New assignments. If you use your current part-time job as Work Experience, you will need to have new learning experiences that can be stated in objective form. To assist you in writing your new objectives you might consider the requirements of the job that is currently a step above yours and what you need to learn in order to be promoted.
- Routine duties. Think of new and creative ways you can improve the results of your daily job duties or new aspects for improving efficiency.
- Problem solving. Look at a problem you have run into on the job, dissect it and think of possible solutions and/or improvements. Can you spot a potential problem in the making? If you were in charge, what suggestions could you make to the person doing your job?
- Personal improvement. How did your interactions at work develop personal habits or social skills that allowed you to become a more coveted employee? How could you improve your communication with co-workers that would result in increased knowledge, new ideas, more production, better cooperation, smoother workflow, etc?

Sample Objectives

Please note that the objectives include both WHAT the learning objectives are and HOW (actions and activities) you will achieve those objectives. Remember that in order for a learning objective to be meaningful it must be measurable – so when you are crafting your learning objectives try to determine how they might be measured.

General Work Experience – WEE 302 – Samples

Examples of Basic Learning Objectives:

1. Acquire and develop basic employment responsibilities by arriving to work early, returning from breaks and lunch on time, and promptly starting work.
2. Development of an understanding for the basic job tasks and responsibilities by asking appropriate questions, receiving training and instruction in an open-minded fashion, and accepting responsibility for both quality and unsatisfactory performance.
3. Demonstrates the ability to get along well with others in the work place by being courteous and considerate of other employees and working to reduce tension under stressful conditions.
4. Completes job tasks effectively and with a degree of quality by proper use of equipment (such as cash register, computer terminal, and tools, etc.) in a skilled manner.
5. Maintains (or works toward) an acceptable volume of production by working quickly and efficiently with given production standards. (This is usually measured in sales volume or production per hour, etc.)
6. Demonstrates initiative and commitment by using cross-selling techniques or suggestions which would lead to increases in sales volume or reduction in costs.

Employers generally have specific jobs which require certain training and skills that must be developed and reinforced. In order to develop these skills and talents, there will be generally stated objectives in the job description. Please feel free to use the objectives which are designed for a particular job.

The above examples are meant to be an aid for those employers or supervisors who work most directly with the student employee and may not have developed specific learning objectives for the position. The above examples can also be modified to a specific position or job with some minor changes.

Occupational Work Experience – WEE 149 – Samples

The following examples are major specific and may or may not be appropriate for you, depending on your current level of education and employment duties.

Program Major: Photography

Properly photograph evidence at a crime scene for court cases. I will read and use the procedures from department manuals and have on site instruction from my supervisor. The procedures will be learned by the end of the semester and at least two photographs will have been accepted in court as evidence.

Program Major: Marketing (Sales)

Increase my personal sales by 10% over last year's total. I will do this by developing a written plan to include sales suggestions, producing a better sales presentation, and learning more about the products sold.

Sales will be measured by comparing last year's figures covering the same dates within the semester. The objective will be completed by May 16, 20XX.

Program Major: Film & Video

Demonstrate the ability to operate a camera in a studio and on location productions. This will be accomplished by training from camera operators, observation, and practical work. My supervisor will evaluate my work by having me explain the operation of the camera and viewing a production I filmed. My supervisor will evaluate my ability by May 16, 200X.

ATTENDANCE & TIME SHEET

You may begin to accumulate hours once you have completed the WEE Orientation process. It is the student's responsibility to record their hours worked. On a daily basis, WEE students are to log their work hours. At the end of each term, it is the WEE student's responsibility to finalize the time sheet and have it confirmed by his/her supervisor. Once signed by the student/employee and supervisor, the time sheet must be turned in to the Work Experience Instructor before the due date (see the WEE Website or Course Syllabus for due dates). A time sheet is included in this packet. If you need extras, please contact your Work Experience Instructor.

STUDENT REPORT

Prior to the end of the semester, students are required to write a student report that is a reflection of what they have learned through their Work Experience.

WEE 302 – 2-4 pages

WEE 149 – 4-6 pages

All reports must be typed and double-spaced using Times New Roman 12pt font, 1" margins, and the title page should have your name, and the names of your employer and WEE instructor.

The report is graded based on content, grammar, spelling, punctuation, and presentation. The final report is to be turned in to the Work Experience Instructor before the end of the term – please see the semester calendar for submission deadlines.

The Work Experience Instructor may indicate a specific topic, format, or length they want addressed in the paper, otherwise you may choose one of the following five topics and follow the guidelines described above:

1. Evaluate the use of objectives and the Work Experience: Some questions to consider when writing your paper: How did you choose your learning objectives? What was it like to sit down with your employer and discuss both of your expectations? Did you find the objectives helpful in directing your learning experience? What did you learn by completing the objectives that you might not otherwise have learned? Did your supervisor follow through on their commitment to teach you new information/skills? What did you learn from using your objectives?
2. Evaluate the effectiveness of the Work Experience program: Some questions to consider when writing your paper: Was the experience valuable to your future goals/employment? If it was valuable, how? And if not – why not? How did the experience influence your future career decision(s)? What were the benefits and what were the drawbacks of the program?

3. Describe your ideal career: Some questions to consider when writing your paper: What is important to you in your job? Do you have a "career-ladder" philosophy or do you see yourself in one job, at one level? When do you think about your career future? What are you willing to sacrifice in your life to "move up the ladder"? What would you NOT give up for your career? How can Allan Hancock College help you attain your ideal career? What else will you need in order to make it happen?
4. Suggestions that might improve efficiency & productivity at your job site: Some things to consider when writing your paper: In your place of work – how is efficiency and productivity identified? How do you know if you are meeting the efficiency and productivity expectations at your place of work? Analyze your job site, then discuss the current levels of efficiency/productivity, and describe how you would go about improving efficiency and productivity (make sure you include changes in procedure and workflow). What could be eliminated to improve efficiency and productivity? What could be added for improvements? Could new or different equipment improve efficiency? This is your opportunity to be creative, yet realistic.
5. Research the career opportunities available within your field of study/job: Some things to consider when writing your paper: Identify the pros and cons concerning this field of study or occupation. Include the necessary education, training, pay scales, occupational outlook (employment possibilities), hours of work, and potential for promotion, drawbacks and benefits. Which organizations hire people in this career? What is the demand for workers in this career cluster? What can you do that might give you an "edge" for future employment in your field? Please note – the Allan Hancock College Career and Technical Education Center (CTEC) has information about many occupations and careers. The library is also a great resource for this project.

STUDENT PROGRESS

Employer Visitations

The Work Experience Instructor will visit the work site of the student at least once during the term. The Work Experience Instructor will meet the site supervisor, confirm the appropriateness of the work site and working conditions, informally evaluate student progress, and stay apprised of the student's development on the job.

Employer's Evaluation

The site supervisor will evaluate the student's achievement of the agreed upon objectives two times in the academic term, using the original Learning Objectives Worksheet as a reference and filling in the Employer Evaluation of Student Performance form. The Employer Evaluation form will be provided and completed once half way through the term and one final time once the student has completed the required number of hours.

PROGRAM SELF & EMPLOYER EVALUATION

As part of the final grade, students must complete a Self-Evaluation and an Evaluation of the Employer and Jobsite. These forms will be handed out at the orientation and can be found on the WEE Website.

REQUIRED STUDENT AND INSTRUCTOR FORMS

All forms will be distributed at the in-person orientation or can be printed from the WEE Website. Forms are to be submitted to the WEE Instructor.

URL = <https://www.hancockcollege.edu/wee/forms.php>

The following forms are to be completed within the first week of the term and submitted to the WEE Instructor:

- Student Data Form: Student must fill out this form with their personal information, and work experience placement information.
- Workers' Compensation Pre-Designation of Personal Physician: Students can optionally pre-designate their personal physician to treat them in case of an injury on the job.

The following forms are to be completed by the second week of the term (unless otherwise specified by the instructor) and submitted to the WEE Instructor:

- Job Site Agreement: The student, employer/supervisor, and WEE instructor review their individual responsibilities and agree to fulfill these responsibilities by signing the form.
- Learning Objectives Worksheet: Three objectives must be developed by the student, with input from the immediate supervisor, and reviewed and approved by the instructor at the beginning of each semester or term. This form must be signed by the student, employer/supervisor and WEE Instructor. A copy should be provided to the employer/supervisor for evaluation purposes.

The following forms are to be completed before the end of the term and submitted to the WEE Instructor:

- Time Sheet: Students can begin accumulating time as soon as they have completed orientation and officially enrolled in WEE. It is the responsibility of the student to log their work hours, finalize the time sheet, and have it confirmed by their supervisor. All parties must sign this form.
- Employer Evaluation of Student Performance: Twice during the academic term, the employer will rate the student's progress on this form. It must be signed by the employer and student when the final evaluation has been completed. The form must be turned in to the WEE Instructor who will then sign and use as one of the factors for determining the student's overall grade.
- Student Evaluation of Employer and Job Site: Students can rate their work experience placement according to different criteria. The employer/supervisor will not review or be provided a copy of this form.
- Student Self-Evaluation: Students can rate their own abilities and development according to different criteria. The employer will not review or be provided a copy of this form.
- Although the Student Report is not a form, it is also due by the end of the term.

The following forms are to be completed by the WEE Instructor:

- Instructor Summary Sheet: This form is used by the WEE Instructor to record student and employer information, log student contact, and record the final grade.
- Mileage Reimbursement Claim Form: The WEE Instructor records mileage used for traveling to the student's job site if using their personal vehicle.
